New episodes come out every 2 - 3 weeks. There may be a short delay around holidays. All episodes are on my YouTube channel: Uh! All Night.

Scarcity of Socializing in Person

Due to this terrifying "Epic-demic", everyone is on the internet calling people through phone cameras. I don't like it. I think video calls are annoying and forced.

Find the Little Man to Win a Cool Prize

There is a little man hidden somewhere on this newspaper. If you can find him, email uhallnight13@gmail.com with a picture of where he is. You can win a cool prize! This prize can be a keychain, ballpoint pen, notebook, or a stress ball. You can choose which one you want to get. Have fun finding the little man!

Covid 19 is Out of Style, but There's a Fancy New Disease in Trend

The "Epic-demic" of Covid 19 is dropping down, but there is a new fancy disease emerging in the east again. Yes, it comes from little piggies; just like Influenza, but it's different. SARS and Influenza are being reincarnated as Covid 19 and Swine Flu. Trying to battle it out in the box, who will take over the world? Will humans take control over the diseases, or will these fancy diseases take control of us? We may not have enough time to figure this out, but hopefully the scientists will help us. In a way, its similar to fast fashion. When there's

Religious Devotional

Evolution or creation? This is a very controversial topic among religions. Half the world believes in creation, and the other half believes in evolution. This is the most confusing part of my life. I can definitely see how e could have been monkeys all those centuries ago. From Pliopithecus to Homo Sapient over thousands of years. I saw this episode of Corner Gas. Hank mentions that birds could have evolved from dinosaurs. If we can find dinosaur bones in the desert, then evolution could be real. But, in an episode of It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia, Mac makes an entire argument about creation being real. He mentions that science can be wrong sometimes. There's also a similar argument in the 2011 movie, Paul. Who's to say that creation is real, and vice versa. "For we live by faith, not by sight." - 2 Corinthians 5:7

one style or season of clothing, there is another trend or fad that takes its place after a few weeks. So, in theory, this single "Epic-demic" could turn into a double "Epic-demic". I wonder how these fancy new diseases are popping up all the time. Its most likely the farming techniques or the farmers market set ups. Whatever the answer may be, I hope everyone is safe and healthy during these trying times of disgrace. I surely hope that my friends and relatives are well and not snuffly with sickness. For anyone who may be very stressed out right now, I got you. There's nothing to worry about. Its just for now. It will go away eventually. I recommend just ignoring the news for a while.

Squish it like a cockroach

We can get rid of diseases by metaphorically squishing it like a cockroach. This will definitely reduce the amount of cases. What we need to do is only go outside when we absolutely need to. This might be when we need a little walk, or buy some food. If we stick together, and connect our brainy ideas, we can beat this, and make sure this never happens again. Or at least for another 50 years.
